They say you can't get crabs in the off-season. But try telling that to your slutty friend Amy. (Girl's always ordering stone crab claws in August.)

But with the start of season, she's free to hard-line crustaceans. To help: George Stone Crab introduces home delivery of stone crab claws, lobster tails, and key lime pies.

Place an order of at least five pounds (three for Key Biscayne or Brickell), and it'll arrive in just 24 hours anywhere in Miami-Dade for a fee of $5. Professional cracking and mustard sauce are free.

Since George Stone Crab works directly with Keys fishermen, there's no middleman. So prices are low compared to fishmongers and restaurants (roughly 45 percent less).

Plus, the claws are ultra fresh, packed on ice, and never frozen — so they're sweet and meaty.

Just how she likes them.
